As I have delved into the Maya Calendar cycles, it has explained many aspects of my personal evolution. I can chart all the major shifts in my life – relative to these cycles. On a smaller, day-to-day aspect I still see the patterns, the flow of Cosmic energy – in my co-creative state of being. And yes, I do look at the spiral of time, as I understand it, on a daily basis. I schedule auspicious events according to this energy flow.

This only begins to cover the majesty of the Maya Calendars. I hope to plant the seeds of interest – in re-membering and re-cognizing these same cycles within your own life. There is so much more to this group of Calendars, which weave into the very fabric of everyday life. Maya Calendars allow us to synchronize our life course to divine plan and align our life path with collective enlightenment for humanity. It is the framework for our evolutionary path. Enlightenment (En-Light-enment “Finding the light within”) aids in flowing with the waves of creation and focusing on intended completion—Enlightenment of Humanity. Cosmic energy shifts at such a high frequency that people think they are experiencing a speed up of time. What they are actually experiencing is increased creation.

How can we “ride the spiritual waves” together to our destination? By tuning in to our intuition (Intu-I-tion “Into Me”). May this expression of Tzolkin Calendar energy give guidance in times ahead. Our interconnectedness of spirit is expressed in the traditional Maya saying: In Lak’ech (I am another you).

Blessings and Love on your path towards timeless co-creation.

Since my childhood I have had psychic experiences. These have brought me to where I am today and the realization of my purpose – sharing knowledge and empowering others.

I have been blessed to share energy with thousands of beautiful beings, who have taught me as much as I have guided them. Readings, lectures and writing allows me to share the knowledge people everywhere are searching for-

to their own divine potential.

The Sacred Tzolkin Calendar combines a cycle of 13 Tones represented by numbers with a cycle of 20 Sun Signs producing 260 unique day combinations. Each named day was numbered from 1 to 13 and then started again at 1. This creates a spiral of energy as each day brings us closer to the co-creational state. These 13-day cycles are called Trecenas.

An example of how these 260 days cycle:

1 Imix is the first representation of tone and sign.

- 2 Ik
- 3 Akbal
- 4 Kan
- 5 Chicchan
- 6 Cimi
- 7 Manik
- 8 Lamat

- 9 Muluc
- 10 Oc
- 11 Chuen
- 12 Eb
- 13 Ben is the 13th day
- 1 Ik is the 14th day
- 2 Men is the 15th day
- 3 Cib is the 16th day

this continues until 13 Ahau, which is the 260th day of the Tzolkin.

Please note the Maya New Year begins with Vaxac Chuen (8 Monkey)

In this diagram, Sun signs are represented by the larger circle A; Tones are represented by smaller circle B. These combinations are the basis of the 260 unique days of the Sacred Tzolk'in Calendar.

Circle C represents the Haab Calendar. When both the Haab and Tzolk'in Calendars are used together, they complete a Calendar Round every 52 years. This was used in conjunction with the Long Count for designating official dates.

WHAT IS A TRECENA?

13 day period (similar to a Gregorian week) consisting of 13 Tones and Sun Signs. This period begins with Tone of Hun (One) and reaches completion with Ox Lahun (Thirteen).

A Trecena is one of the Sacred Maya Calendar cycles of co-creative energy used by Shamans for Divination.

HOW DOES IT INFLUENCE THE ENERGIES OF EACH DAY?

The energy of the Trecena acts like a theme throughout the combinations of Tones and Sun Signs. For example, when you begin the Trecena of Imix, you will notice the theme of intense energy combinations since the tones and signs are in synch. In the Trecena of Ix, the Shaman, the personality of the Shaman is felt in each day's energies.

This perpetual calendar highlights the Sacred Evolutionary Energies expressed in the Tzolkin Calendar. This is not an expression of linear time, but cyclical movement. Each day builds upon the energies of the days previous.

To assist those following these energy cycles, Maya dates are converted at the beginning and midpoint of each Trecena.
